FOREWORD

... "a time to keep."

In a world of rush and impatience
too often we forget
the value of remembering.

The events, people, and activities
of a past school year
are overcome by
the more important present
or future.

This is what we, the Comet Staff,
hope to prevent--
the loss of 1966--
the studies, dances and basketball
games which have made up
life at I.C.H.S.

This yearbook will hold
many memories today,
tomorrow, and next week.
But only years from now will it
truly achieve its purpose.

A time will have been kept--
a year saved.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Sister M. Irene, Principal

To BE Or To DO?

"What are you going to do after graduation?" This is possibly the most frequent question students answer for four years. Rarely do they hear the question, "What are you going to be?"

Yet, only a moment's reflection convinces any thoughtful person that the student who has not solved the question of being which deals with his concepts of right and wrong, his relationships with God, his fellow men and society, cannot solve the problems of doing in anything but a superficial manner. A student must decide what kind of person he is going to be before he can determine what he will or should do. His public acts will be a true extension of his private values and ideals.

The question of preparing for the future, therefore, is much more complex than merely deciding whether you will be a doctor, a nurse, a mechanic, a clerk, a priest or a nun. Basic to the solution of the problems of the future lie the answers to three questions: (1) What kind of person are you now? (2) What kind of person do you hope to be? (3) How much are you willing to sacrifice in order to capitalize on what you have and what the world will make available to you?

How do you picture yourself twenty years from now? Before you visualize the person you hope to be, chart clearly the values which now govern your everyday life. Popularity? Money? Friends? Social Prestige? Social Justice? Compassion? Service to your fellow men?

Whatever is most important to you now mirrors in a crystal ball the adult that you are going to be. Are you satisfied with the reflection?

ALMA MATER

All hail, Alma Mater,
all hail thy
fair name

Thy loyal sons
and daughters
will always sing
thy fame.

Thy loyal sons
and daughters
will always sing
thy fame.

IDEALISM,
CHARACTER--
these we hold dear

True HONOR
and SCHOLARSHIP
toward these
we persevere

The I. C. H. S. motto
we always
will revere.

... "a time to build."

In a school year full of activities, enthusiasm, and hard study, the UNDERCLASSMEN are busy forming friendships, developing principles, increasing knowledge, and building-- building the foundations of a lifetime. During the next few years they will attempt to develop their capabilities to the fullest. Each new experience adds another brick to the foundation for the future.

Comet Wrestlers Cop Championship

Bob Romanosky and Bill Renko won Catholic League Wrestling championships in a tournament held at South Hills Catholic the weekend of March 4-6.

Bob, a senior, wrestling in the 127 pound division, defeated his opponent from South Hills to win his title. Bill, a junior, also defeated his opponent from South to take the 103-pound title.

Both winners received gold medals for their victories.

Junior Varsity wrestlers, Jeff Ganter and Dave DiNardo, won J.V. crowns in their weight divisions.

South Hills won the team title scoring 55 points. Canevin was second with 33, Central Catholic third with 17, and I.C. was fourth with 14. Serra had 8 points and Bishop Boyle 0.

I.C. Bowls Over With New League

Nine bowling teams of forty-nine members including Mr. Covle form the I.C.H.S. Bowling League.

The first match was November 24, and weekly games will continue from 3:30 to 5:30 at the Alpine Lanes on Jefferson Ave. Trophies for individuals and the teams will complete the season.

Linda Bologa and Andre Kalich

From the entrance tunnel to the bales of hay, corn stalks, and the 'Great Pumpkin,' the Sadie Hawkins Dance held on October 31, 1965 was the first important and possibly most successful dance of the year.

The school activities were brought into full swing by the installation of Student Council officers and members.

Harold V. Fergus, district attorney was the guest speaker who enriched us with the value of leadership. Following the Installation Assembly, a tea was held in the library. An installation Dance that evening completed the program for the day.

The Gymnaculation

Under the watchful supervision of Sister M. Urban, and editor, Patricia Amanati, the 1966 COMET Yearbook Staff was inspired by the happenings of the school year. From a single thought in the minds of the staff developed a myriad of ideas which, in turn, were pondered and discussed. The ideas took a definite shape and proportion thus producing this, the 1966 COMET, which is the result of many, many hours of worthwhile work.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

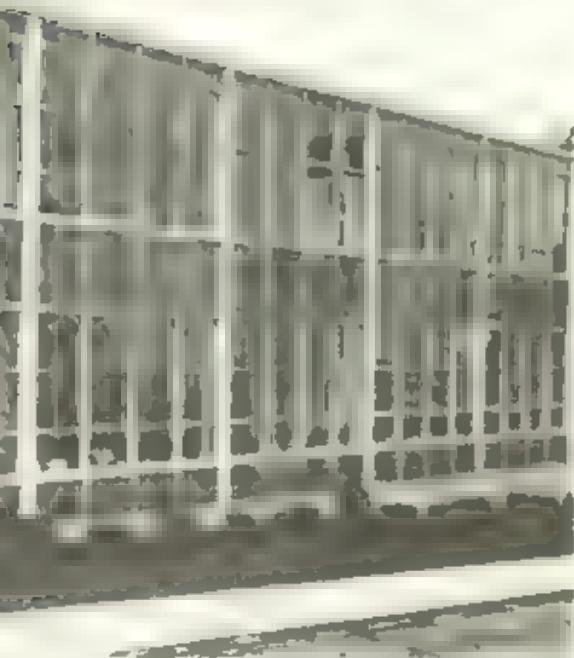

...“a time to remember.”

Time is a unique and baffling dimension,
Though always constant,
it can fly by with uncanny swiftness,
or it can grind on with agonizing monotony.
Four years seems like a long time
until it has passed.

For 72 Immaculate Conception SENIORS
graduation
marks the end of this phase of their lives.
For a few,
formal education will cease;
for most it has only begun.
These have been the trial and error years,
the formative years,
a time of spiritual,
civil,
and social development.
Visualizing the past
brings to mind many of its highlights.
The outstanding one being graduation itself.

Physical fitness, an understanding of the American economic system, and testing make up a day for our seniors. Character and good sportsmanship are developed in physical education classes while important dates and figures become alive and interesting through the use of charts in Economics class.

Congratulations to the Seniors from Coen Oil Company
